Temporary traffic changes to the New Italy light vehicle rest area for the Woolgoolga to Ballina Pacific Highway upgrade

The Australian and NSW governments are jointly funding the Woolgoolga to Ballina upgrade. Roads and Maritime Services, Pacific Complete and its contractor partners are working together to deliver the upgrade.

As part of the upgrade, the light vehicle rest area at New Italy will temporarily close from late October to allow the project team to safely build the new light vehicle rest area and highway. A car park has been built at the rear of the museum to provide travellers and visitors access to the New Italy rest area facilities. We have included a map to show the location of the car park.

Access to Swan Bay New Italy Road and the New Italy Museum and shops will remain open during this work. Once the permanent new car park is open for use, the project team will continue to build the new rest area. This work will take about six months to complete, weather permitting.

- Installing drainage and utility services
- Carrying out earthwork, pavement work and spray sealing
- Completing finishing work, including installing lighting, signage, line marking and landscaping
- Reopening the entrance and exit.
